

LAND ART

Inspired by artist Andy Goldsworthy

Kindness to the Earth

Take only what you need.

Be gentle with your items.

Like Goldsworthy, work with materials that are already available. Never uproot, break off, or carve into living beings.

Thank the Earth for helping you make this beautiful art!

Use natural materials found on the ground around you to create a temporary installation, by arranging them a deliberate way. How can you use land art to bring attention to a species or a space? What aspect of this place would you like to bring attention to?
